Brief description

The South African Inventors Association is a relatively new organisation which was born to recognise, promote and protect the interests of South African inventors and innovators. The association will, through its service offerings address some of the weaknesses in South Africa's Innovation chasm and in so doing assist our government in realising their own innovation goals.

The association will act as a communication portal for all persons local and international, on all issues pertaining to invention and innovation in our country. The Association will endeavour to form strategic relationships and take up membership with/in relevant, recognised bodies to assist it in its quest to furthering its aims which could progressively move South Africa from a developing third world country to 1st world status.
